Dedication

We, the Senior Class, wholeheartedly dedicate the 1985 Sagitta to Mr. Robert Cecchini. His various roles as vice-principal, athletic director, friend, and confidant have shown us his outstanding qualities of leadership and compassion. "Mr. C." has helped us to blossom both as a class and as individuals. And for that we are grateful.

"Mr. C.", we hope that our warmth and sincerity are relayed to you in this brief passage. Picture each of our smiling faces and hear the thunderous applause with which we honor you.

Appreciation

The class of 1985 wishes to express its deepest appreciation to our class advisors, Ms. Robin Sorensen and Mr. Edward Grous. Their kindness and untiring efforts have taught us to be individuals continually striving for success. We thank them for their confidence in us and their devotion to the senior class.

Making your way in the world today . . .

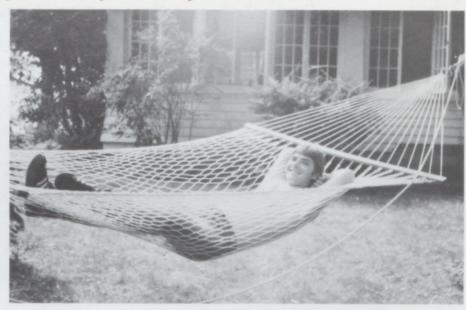

you've got.

Taking a break from all your worries . . .

Sure would help a lot.

Wouldn't you like to get away?

Sometimes you wanna go where everybody knows your name . . .

. . . and they're always glad you came.

Amiel P. Zak

1915-1984

Amiel Zak . . . a modest, dedicated teacher and civic leader, selflessly devoted his energies to serving this community throughout his life. As a teacher at Suffield High, he chaired the Social Studies Department, acted as yearbook advisor, and was named an honorary member of our Delmar F. Sisson chapter of The National Honor Society. In addition to his scholarship and moral integrity, his quick, dry wit endeared him to countless students, colleagues, and friends. Proud of his heritage, faithful to his church, and decorated for defending his country, Mr. Zak meant something to each of those who knew him. He shall continue to be remembered fondly by those whose lives he touched.

ENGLISH

"You mean you are a distant cousin of Wordsworth?"

"Yes, this is Doctor Ruth. Can I help you?"

"Please let there be a Reese's Peanut Butter Cup in my desk."

"Who played "Thing" in the Addams Family?"

"Is that Superclear?"

"No, you do not get an A just because you're a cheerleader."

"How did the movie end?"

"No, Juliet did NOT work at a topless bar!"

"More fan mail."

MATH

"Put your arm down; you've already used up your 3."

"I've got you, my pretty."

"Guys, get off the tables!"

"Sit down and tell me what's wrong with your geranium."

"I thought a 90 point curve was enough."

"Another name to our bad guy list."

"Can we talk?"

"It's gonna take a lot more than this to get an A."

SCIENCE

"All right, who stole my thermos?"

"Okay, people, who left the peanut butter in the zinc sulfide?"

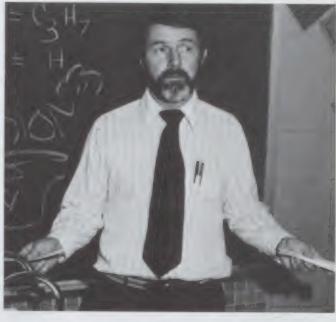

"You should see these little critters."

"Won't you be my neighbor?"

"No, I'm not watching stars"

"How am I supposed to know? Ask Mrs. Laemel "

BUSINESS

"Are you cheating again?"

"Let me get this straight. You can only type 10 words a minute?!"

"That's hardly an appropriate outfit for the office."

"Tomorrow. Tomorrow. I love ya tomorrow . . . "

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

"I'm not the French teacher."

"You're in French III and you don't know what a verb is?"

"You want to take a train to France??"

"Oh Caesar, you rascal!"

"Do you know the words to LA CUCARACHA?"

"Well I never!"

SOCIAL STUDIES

"Hello, boys and girls . . . can you say American History?"

"Your tests?! I'm still working on the class of '84."

"No, you can't eat a big Mac with chopsticks."

"Oh, no. Another dumb attack."

"Oh, this isn't an open book test?"

VO-AG

"I hope I got the job with Santa this December"

"But,I have an eleven o'clock dentist appointment, Mr. C."

"No, I am not standing up "

"I've been raisin' cows for 45 years."

ART & MUSIC

"You call that a piece of art?"

"Blow it out your ear, Liberace."

"I've been inventorying cows all day."

"Is Moon River really in Q sharp?"

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

"Sit down, Waldo!"

"I can't believe I ate the whole thing."

"What the heck - I'm not driving."

"If Christie Brinkley came knocking on my door

"Look, an automatic rolling pin."

"Confucius say, 'Two hands better than one.' "

"I don't care if your dog ate your cross country sneakers"

"Was our meeting today!?"

"You're going to have to give me more than this."

"Look at the centerfolds? No! I just read the articles."

"My day begins with a college handbook and a cup of coffee."

"That paper boy hit me again this morning!"

"Your signature is looking more and more like Mrs. Roy's every day!"

"No, I wasn't stealing school supplies."

"When Momma said, 'Que sera, sera', I never expected this."

"These aren't the soccer uniforms I ordered."

"I've lost 55 pounds in two weeks."

"Shoot to kill, Luigi."

"Wednesday's Dr. J. Spaghetti Day."

"No, I'm not interested in a subscription to Playgirl."

"Is it Friday yet?"

"I don't do passes."

"What ever happened to good of Ma Bell?"

"Modeling is my career. Typing is my hobby."

"Wait a minute . . . Tom Selleck's subbing tomorrow?!"

"You threw who in the showers?"

"Isn't there a law against student brutality?"

"What did you say about Geoff Bodine?!?"

"You just had to do it, didn't you?"

"Don't tell me . . . your dog ate your gym shorts?"

"You mean today is Saturday!?"

"Have I achieved the executive look?"

"Hopefully this sport is safer than Field Hockey."

CLASS

We, the class of 1985, entered Suffield High in September of 1981 with great expectations of the next four years. Our first project, ordering our class jackets, was a success, and we proudly displayed them when they arrived. We excitedly awaited the pep rally, but our meager preparations and "too-cool-tocheer" attitudes brought us down to earth. We came in fourth, but chalked it up to inexperience — we would do better the next year. In the meantime, we got rides to McDonald's with upperclassmen, and cheered ourselves up with Quarter Pounders and French fries.

We came back as confident sophomores, glad to have the freshmen looking up to us for a change. We all commented on how short the freshmen seemed and how we never could have been that obnoxious when we were so young. Being a class to break tradition, we changed companies when it came time to order our rings. The change was for the better and when the rings arrived, we happily displayed them to anyone and everyone.

Our junior year was the

HISTORY

real beginning for the class of 1985. We pulled together, exceeding our candy sale goals, as well as coming in second place in the pep rally. We eagerly awaited our junior prom and when it arrived, it lived up to our expectations. In our taffeta gowns and handsome tuxedos, we danced the night away at La Renaissance to the song, "Heaven." The next day we flocked to the beaches (despite the weather) so that the fun wouldn't have to end. June came and the graduates went. It was up to us now - we would be the next senior class.

Now it's our turn! Our senior year started off powerfully with a successful magazine drive. We came together and showed the underclassmen what we could do. To celebrate our success, we held a semiformal and indulged ourselves at Friendly's. We spent hours at Frankie's after the basketball games, eating pizza and grinders. Now, as graduates, we have found unity in our class. We are all individuals, but we have a common goal - the welfare of the class of 1985.

BIG NEWS!! BIG CRUISE!!

The S.H.S. Cheers, designed by MIKE GEMME, PAUL STAFFORD and interior decorator ED BIGDA, departed from Boston Harbor on December 26, 1999 for a New Year's cruise to Australia.

Travel agents NATALIE HALL and AMY MARKOWSKI had worked closely with TEDDY ROY, the captain of the cruise liner, in planning this trip. CINDY LEAVITT, cruise director, cheerfully greeted everyone as they boarded

The first aboard was the notorious gangster CHRIS WILLIAMS, surrounded by muscle-bound bodyguards ROB SOBINSKI, TED VARHOLAK, and JOHN VISCOMI. KELLY DRAKE and GINA MARTOCCHIO, taking an eagerly-awaited vacation from their jobs working with children, ran up the ramp. Next came Senator MARGO MCCARTY with her five St. Bernards, and her dogs' veterinarian, MARSHA ANASTASIA. After an hour of boarding, the business women of the year: AUDREY KURAS, social worker; PAULA MANDEVILLE, advertising executive; and MIMI LABBEE, a business executive, all old high school friends, barely made it onto the boat.

JODY HARBOLD and cabin mate HEATHER WATERMAN, housewives, prepared for their first night away from their husbands. In the adjoining cabin, PHIL BARRETT tried to sell his tools to computer repairman, WAYNE LANCIONI.

For the first dinner aboard the S.H.S. Cheers, beauticians JUDY HINCKLEY, SHARON MASON, KIM KOCHERT, and CATHY BLICKARZ were kept busy for many hours working in the ship's salon.

In the kitchen, nutritionist TONI REYNOLDS had been working hard planning the dinner, along with her staff, STACY WADENKLEE and DEREK PIERCE were seen carrying huge trays of food. At the first table they served were a few Suffield Garden Club members: DENISE MEUNIER, MARCIA RADZIEWSKI, BECKY ROSS and GREG RAYNES. After dinner, busboys TODD ROSANSKY and ERIC SCHULTZ cleared the tables. BRENDA BAUMERT, head chef, and her close associate. ARA STEWART, caterer, began mingling with the crowd. For entertainment, the break dancing team of ED MARKOWSKI, RUSSELL SMITH, JOHN MERRILL and VICTOR NIGRO captiviated the audience.

The crowd dispersed into the various other entertainment facilities provided on board. Soon after, everyone retired early, exhausted from all the excitement of the first day.

The next day began with an aerobics class led by DAVE SULLIVAN and BOB MANDIROLA. Accountants JEFF ALERS, TRACEY BENOIT, NEAL CONDON, STEPHANIE HUOT, MILLIE CHRISTIAN, and KIM CALDON were in the first session of aerobics that morning, taking time out from their stressful jobs to loosen up.

Doing one-hundred vigorous laps in the pool were the members of the awesome American Water Polo Team. The members included: LORI AUTORINO, MICHELLE CHARBONNEAU, TINA CLIFFORD, EDWARD COOK, PAUL CYR, CINDY HEFFLON, TOMMY HEYSE, JENNY JUSTICE and PHIL KELLY. They were soon joined by Britain's formidable water polo team members — NICKY KOSMAN, JOE KUPAU, PAM KUSZAJ, BOB LAFLAMME, MATT LAFOND, AUDREY LATA and DIANNE LINGENFELTER.

Watching the water polo competition was Hartford Whalers coach SUZANNE LINGENFELTER. Nearby, attorney MATT BROMSON could be seen lounging on deck, basking in the sun, while his legal assistant, LYNN KOLNSBERG worked diligently. On the upper deck was MICHELLE BULAT seeking the advice of WILLIAM FOTHERGILL, child psychologist. Meanwhile, in the background, her children, fondly known to the passengers as the "Dirty Half Dozen," could be heard playing cowboys and Indians. On the other side of the deck, the Connecticut Shuffleboard Team members KIRSTEN LITTLE, SANDRA LONG, LISA LONGO, and DEIRDRE MAHONEY, were impressing passengers with their skills.

As the week closed, the ship docked at Puerto Vallarte, Mexico, to pick up the class of 1985's SPECIAL GUEST. MICHELLE MYERS, child therapist, CAMI ENGLER, psychologist, and GENNY CANNON, social worker, brought out all the books on child psychology in an added attempt to solve the mystery of the "Dirty Half Dozen."

At 7:00 P.M., New Year's Eve, the SPECIAL GUEST boarded the S.H.S. Cheers with her bodyguard, AMY LEACH. Following behind them were the husband and wife reporting team, STEPHANIE STONE and MARK GLUNT. Soon after, photographers WENDY TAYLOR and MIKE RICHARD arrived.

Business people boarded the ship en route to an Australian convention; among them were DIANE SEYMOUR and LISA SCHWALBACH, executives SANDRA REGAN, a company chairperson, CHARLENE BUCKLEY, a secretary, and Senator TARA REMINGTON.

Last to return to the ship was yearbook advisor, REGINA WYSOCKI, with her colorful piñata, bought on a carefree spree through the city in an attempt to forget her yearbook duties.

As the horn signaled the departure from Mexico, bartender PAUL STAGG was serving exotic drinks. TIM SWEATLAND, a hotel manager, rejected one in favor of a frosty mug of brew. In her gift shop SALLY GEARY was taking inventory.

Commencing the festivities to bring in the New Year were JOHN DIELL on drums, JOHN LEARIAN, concert planist accompanying MARK SULLIVAN and SHELLY CICERO, singing Auld Lang Syne.

The music stopped as the SPECIAL GUEST canse in; she was complimented on her gown, designed by MICHELE DUVAL. Businessman SCOTT MORRISON asked the SPECIAL GUEST to dance as the music started again. Now that SCOTT has broken the ice, everyone joined them. JANET WOOD, legal secretary, looked over the shoulder of ner dancing partner, stockbroker BRIAN YOUNG, and saw pediatrician TOM NAUGHTON, beogreing with KAREN WHITE, legal assistant.

The music stopped and touring comedian PETER MANN started the countdown for the new year, 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3... 2. CRASH!! The ship struck an uncharted island!

ANN MARIE VIETS, an accountant, hit her face on the rail and was rushed to dental hygienist CINDY TUPEK. Doctor GREG PACKARD and his nurse, KATHY WELSH, were seen aiding RAY YOUNG. Olympic basketball coach.

In the morning, all passengers were asked to leave the ship for safety's sake while JAY CHRISTIAN, underwater welder, ERIC VALDES, PETER DAS and MARC EDWARDS, electrical engineers, worked diligently to repair the ship. Archaeologist LINDA MEIBERG was eager to examine the island's rocks, while veterinarian AMANDA LAWLER looked for animal inhabitants.

Night fell!! And the strange beat of a distant drum could be heard. In the morning when the passengers awoke, they discovered that CATHERINE COGGINS, pony trainer, MICHAEL BLANCHARD, famous soccer player, and MARY JENNINGS, gym teacher, were missing.

Search parties were organized to find the missing people. Four were led by MICHAEL BUSSOLARI, owner of a chain of auto repair shops, STEVE SLAMON, millionaire, STEVE CASSTEVENS, horticulturist and GREG STEWART, farmer. The day ended without success.

As the passengers dozed off, the drum beat was much louder than it had been the night before. Later in the night the passengers were awakened by the drum that was closer and louder than earlier. The drum stopped and there was dead silence!!! All of a sudden 1,985 werd fuzzy creatures began to attack. Someone screamed, "Oh My God, they're Weeples — and they're alive!!!"

There was no way to defeat these furry beasts. Then all of a sudden the Weeples ceased their attack. Out of the jungle two men appeared. One was wearing a crown, and the other was holding a drum. They identified themselves as President TED LYON of Weeples Island and his faithful bongo player. BILL NEALON. The president told us of the many grieving Weeple families that had lost relatives to the Suffield magazine sale.

President LYON then asked for the SPECIAL GUEST as a sacrifice. The passengers refused to give her up but, against our wishes, the fearsome Weeples took her.

As this happened, we heard helicopters in the distance "Oh No. What Now!!!", we thought But before the helicopters arrived, we started to negotiate with President LYON. We agreed upon making a trade—the three missing passengers and our SPECIAL GUEST for WAYNE ANDREWS, advertising consultant, SCOTT BOLLIGER, business manager, LISA GEBHART, business woman, business executive MIKE FABRIZI, sales representative DLB-BIE HICKEY, and MAIRI LAFRANCE, another business manager. Amazingly, they were all willing to volunteer for this highly dangerous position, while visions of Weeple Inn World Renowned Resort flashed in their minds.

Finally the helicopters arrived, just a little bit late for a rescue, yet nonetheless welcome. Flying the helicopters were BOBBY HARRIS, MIKE MIARECKI, and MIKE MURZYN. From the sea came the Navy. First off the Navy boat was. Lieutenant TIM CANNON. All the passengers were checked for injuries by JEFF BOYD, emergency medical technician, and two radiological technicians. CHARLENE HAWLEY and WENDY TERRY. Soon after, the passengers were escorted from Weeples Island.

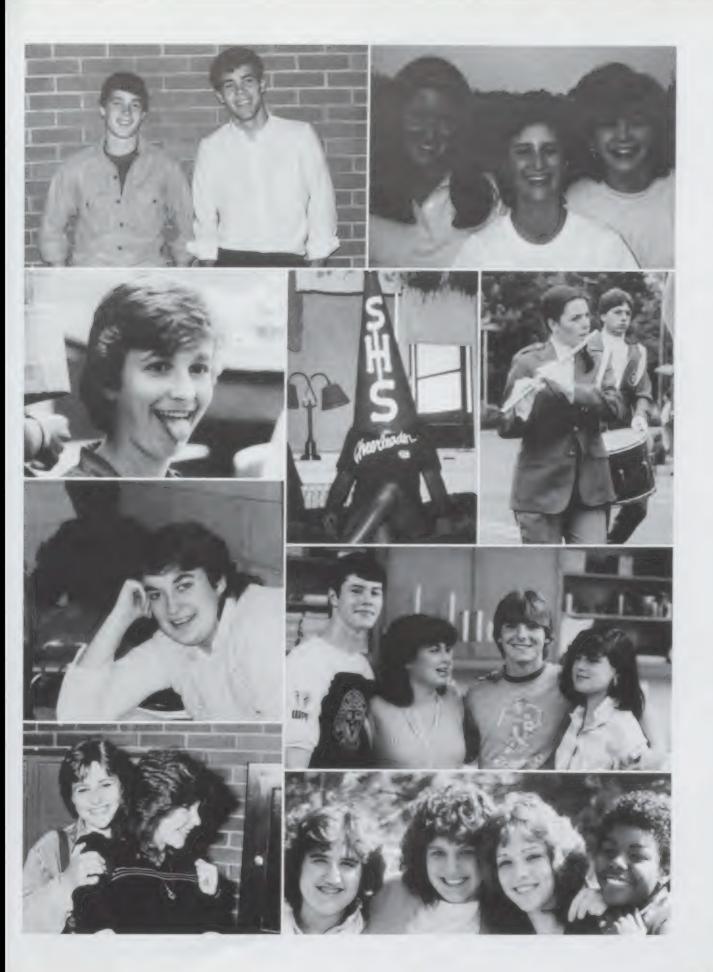

Our arrival in Boston was met with much fanfare. Passengers were greeted by reporters, relatives and colleagues. Returning from her work in South America, JENNIFER DELEEUW, who was helping Dr. Jim Reardon, barely made it back for the ship's return. In the crowd were rich and famous JOHN LIPSKI, DARLENE PHELPS, bookkeeper, BETH MASON, psychologist; BRIAN CASINGHINO, lawyer; BRIAN MANDIROLA, owner of a small business; ELLEN SEGER, Wall Street financier, DAN SHERIDAN, WALTER COLE, and LISA COATTI, all business executives. Though invited and eager to go, they couldn't find the time to take the cruise.

"So this concludes yet another zany and unique episode for the "Class of 1985," wrote famous novelist KAREN SIMMONS.

SPECIAL GUEST:

The seniors at Suffield were honored to have our own special guest from Mexico, LARA LATA. We enjoyed having her here with us and maybe we'll see her again at our 15th reunion!!!
